A MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

Celebrating WDM Successes

Happy New Year! Time seems to be flying by and it's hard to believe we are at the start of another year. This past year saw the completion of three major projects at the WDM. I am proud of the work our staff and volunteers have put into seeing these projects completed and grateful for the support we've received from the community.

First, we completed the track rebuild and the K+S Canada Potash Short Line 101 took to the rails again. After a three-year hiatus, our "little" train was back in action sharing the experience of steam locomotion throughout the summer.

Next, the parking lot at the WDM Saskatoon was completed – re-opening to the public the same day winter arrived with our first heavy snowfall in Saskatoon. I'd like to extend a big thank you to all our supporters who helped make this project possible and to the WDM Saskatoon staff and volunteers who kept the Museum running smoothly during the construction. Finally, the 1158 Locomotive in North Battleford was completely overhauled and restored to what it looked like during its operating life. These were significant projects for the WDM and completing all of them in 2018 has been a tremendous accomplishment for our staff.

Even more importantly, we've continued our work to increase diversity and inclusivity at the WDM with the adoption of our new Strategic Plan* and the release of the Inclusivity Report.* Together, these documents will guide our efforts to improve inclusivity and diversity throughout the organization. As part of these initiatives, we've launched the Saskatchewan LGBTQ2+ History Collection and look forward to opening the Doukhobor Living Book Project exhibit in July 2019.

In the coming year, we will continue seeking ways to include more diverse stories in our exhibits and programs. We are also excited to be able to share behind the scenes stories, useful tips, and much more through our new Museum Stories blog. There is a lot going on at the WDM and with most of our work occurring behind the scenes, we wanted to give you an opportunity to get to know us and our work a bit better. You'll be hearing from our staff as they work on exhibits, collections and conservation projects. We'll also be providing handy tips to make your next museum visit even more memorable. We hope our Museum Stories blog will provide insight into the inner workings of a museum and give you an opportunity to ask questions about the work we are doing. You can check out our blog at wdm.ca.

We are excited about the coming year and look forward to sharing all our province's diverse histories with you.

Thank you everyone for all you do for the WDM!

Sincerely,

Joan Kanigan, CEO

Inclusivity Report

For the past year, Dr. Elizabeth Scott, WDM Curator, has been researching how the WDM can become a more inclusive and diverse organization and how we will respond to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada Calls to Action. Her work began as part of a wider research project undertaken with the University of Saskatchewan's Community Engaged Collaboratorium.

The initial project focused on the WDM's exhibits with subsequent work focusing on all aspects of the WDM's operations. The resulting *Inclusivity Report provides a deep understanding of where the WDM is today and how to begin moving forward to achieve our vision of a Saskatchewan Where Everyone Belongs and Histories Matter.

The Inclusivity Report has three aims:

1. To guide the WDM's response to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada Calls to Action.
2. To guide the WDM's efforts in becoming a more inclusive and diverse organization that welcomes and shares the histories of all Saskatchewan people, especially those who have been, and continue to be, underrepresented in the Museum.
3. To inform the importance of decolonizing the WDM's operations and programs and outline a process for doing so.

The central issue the report addresses is the need to work towards decolonization by weaving Indigenous, non-European Canadian and marginalized perspectives throughout the WDM. For almost 70 years the WDM has provided the Saskatchewan people with a place to learn about Euro-Canadian settlement history. We plan to honour that legacy and tell new stories, so that all Saskatchewan people will see themselves and their histories in the Museum. The WDM looks forward to working in community-led partnerships to facilitate sharing these voices and stories.

Over the past year, the WDM Board of Directors has laid the groundwork for reconciliation, diversity and inclusion at the WDM. The adoption of the WDM's vision; refining the WDM's Ends Policy; and, adopting a Statement of Intent for reconciliation, provides the framework for the recommendations in the Inclusivity Report.

The seven main recommendations in the Inclusivity Report are:

1. Publicly acknowledge Indigenous peoples and their histories.
2. Provide training and educational opportunities for staff and volunteers including cultural awareness, anti-racism and sensitivity training to improve overall cultural competency.
3. Report on reconciliation and inclusivity activities and progress.
4. Assess collection management practices to ensure they support inclusivity and reconciliation.
5. Develop and implement a plan for exhibit renewal at all WDM locations to increase overall diversity and inclusivity in the stories being told.
6. Review, update and renew all education and public programs to ensure they align with reconciliation and inclusivity goals.
7. Review, update and renew overall WDM operations to align with reconciliation and inclusivity goals.

This work is important. The WDM's long-term sustainability is dependent on our ability to reflect all of Saskatchewan's people. Diversity enriches our lives, but only if we make the effort to be inclusive and bring all our stories, good or bad, into our public places. Everyone deserves to feel like they belong, and belonging is seeing yourself reflected in the public institutions around you.

At the WDM, we are committed to inclusivity, one story at a time.

WDM Saskatoon Parking Lot Construction Complete

After being closed for nearly three months, the parking lot at the WDM Saskatoon was re-opened on November 9 with a newly designed front entrance and paving. Announced in July 2018, this infrastructure rebuild included installing storm sewers, weeping tile, a new water line, lights and accessible sidewalks. The front entrance was redeveloped with concrete curbs and paving stones. The new parking lot has 154 paved parking spots, including handicap accessible spaces. This is 68 spaces more than before and the entire lot is now paved.

WDM SASKATOON MANAGER JASON B. WALL AND STAFF CUT THE RIBBON OPENING THE PARKING LOT, NOVEMBER 9, 2018

The Blairmore Ring, an important piece from Saskatchewan's mining history, will be installed near the entrance of the Museum. Used in the potash industry, the ring formed a water tight shaft so that mining potash could take place. As it is extremely heavy, the Blairmore Ring will be set into place once the ground has frozen sufficiently and it can be safely moved. In the spring, landscaping around the boulevards and front entrance will be completed.

Thank you to Hamm Construction, ASL Paving Ltd., Diversified Electric, and project managers Catterall and Wright for their effort to complete this project on time and within budget.

Community support came from the Province of Saskatchewan, ASL Paving Ltd., the City of Saskatoon's Cultural Capital Grant Program, and the Community Initiatives Fund's Community Places and Spaces Program. We would also like to thank the very generous donors who wish to remain anonymous.

A special thank you to the staff and volunteers of the WDM Saskatoon. The Museum's programs and services ran smoothly despite the disruption caused by the construction. We also wish to thank our members and patrons who continued to visit.

Thanks to everyone who supported this project in so many different ways. We couldn't have done it without you!
